

We are pleased to announce that:

the New Science of FIXING THINGS

Is now
a Crossover Company!

Crossover Solutions Inc.

Our strategic objective, just like Crossover, is to help our clients:

- Train engineers to do what we do; solve problems fast
- Characterize and build knowledge about processes and product performance based on methodologies developed or applied by The New Science of Fixing Things.
- Build broad Topographic knowledge from each Characterization and Causal Explanation, not just case-based solutions with limited application
- Shift the emphasis from costly seminars to Project- based workshops, which returns your investment....FAST.

The merger of Crossover, a company with depth in helping clients at a management, operational and financial level, provides the resources to make what we do at The New Science of Fixing Things the new standard in professional problem solving and prevention!
